COMPLAINT

Plaintiff, GEA Architects Ltd., alleges for its complaint against the Defendants Fuller’s Car Wash, Inc.; Paragon Development Services, Inc.; Paragon Matteson, LLC; SV Matteson, LLC; SV Calumet City, LLC; Douglas A. Fuller, an individual; Gregory Van Landingham, an individual; and PFDA Architects, Inc., (collectively, “Defendants”) as follows:

1. This is an action involving infringement by Defendants of GEA’s copyrights in certain architectural plans and technical drawings, as well as infringement of the constructed architectural work that embodies those drawings. The Defendants made unauthorized copies of the drawings and used them to make and distribute new drawings which were copies and derivatives of the original drawings. These copies and derivatives are substantially similar to Plaintiff’s copyrighted works and were made without permission. Plaintiff’s drawings were used without permission by Defendants to build a new building that is substantially similar to the architectural work designed by Plaintiff, all without compensation to the Plaintiff.

2. The action also involves the intentional removal of GEA's copyright notice that appeared throughout the drawings. The infringing drawings were then marked with a copyright notice falsely identifying PFDA as the creator of the drawings. Removal of plaintiff's copyright notice and other copyright management information and inclusion of false copyright management information violates 17 U.S.C. §1202.

3. GEA brings this action to prevent further unauthorized use of its copyrighted plans to build infringing structures and for damages caused by defendants' acts.

4. The Court has subject matter jurisdiction in this action pursuant to 28 USC § 1331 and § 1338(a), as this case arises under the U.S. Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. §101, et seq.

5. Venue is proper in this Court pursuant to 28 USC § 1400(a), as the Defendants reside and/or maintain a principal place of business in this District.

General Allegations

15. GEA was incorporated by its principal, Mr. George Evangelopoulos (“Evangelopoulos”) in 2001. The company provides a wide array of architectural services, including creation of architectural and technical drawings, engineering services, and construction management services. GEA has produced a portfolio of successful projects throughout the Chicagoland area and on a national level. Its projects include commercial, institutional, industrial, corporate, retail, healthcare, and residential buildings.

16. In or around October 2010, GEA entered into an agreement with Fuller’s Car Wash of Cicero, Inc. (“Fuller-Cicero”), through Doug Fuller, to provide professional architectural services for a car wash facility to be located in Cicero, Illinois (the “Cicero Facility”). GEA and Fuller-Cicero subsequently entered a written contract memorializing their agreement on or about February 22, 2011.

17. Beginning in approximately January or February, 2011, and continuing thereafter, Evangelopoulos and other employees of GEA created detailed architectural drawings (“the Cicero Drawings”) for the Cicero facility. These drawings consist of a host of different drawings and textual notes depicting and relating to the architectural design of the Cicero Facility, including site plans; floor plans; roof plans; north, south, east, and west exterior elevations; detail plans; mechanical and plumbing plans; electrical plans, and structural plans.

18. The design of the Cicero Facility and the drawings of the Cicero Facility were created by Evangelopoulos and other employees of GEA and are original to them.

19. The Cicero Facility, which embodies the Cicero Drawings, was constructed in 2012.

20. The architectural work embodied in the Cicero Facility and the drawings of the Cicero Facility created by employees of GEA are works made for hire. GEA, as the employer of the individual employees who created the works, is the sole and exclusive owner of the copyrights in the architectural plans/technical drawings of the Cicero Facility and the architectural work that embodies the Cicero Drawings.

21. The Cicero Drawings are original works of authorship, namely, technical drawings and architectural plans, and contain a substantial amount of original material created as a result of GEA’s skill, knowledge, creativity, and judgment, and is copyrightable subject matter under the Copyright Act of 1976, as amended, 17 U.S.C. § 102(a)(5).

22. The design of the Cicero Facility as embodied in the building is a work of authorship, namely an architectural work, and contains a substantial amount of original material created as a result of GEA's skill, knowledge, creativity, and judgment, and is copyrightable subject matter under the Copyright Act of 1976, as amended, 17 U.S.C. § 102(a)(8).

23. GEA registered its copyright in the technical and architectural drawings entitled "Fuller's Car Wash-Cicero, Illinois" with the United States Copyright Office on May 11, 2015, and was provided Registration Number VAu 1-211-765. Exhibit 1 attached hereto is a true and correct copy of the Registration Certificate issued by the U.S. Copyright Office for this work.

24. GEA registered its copyright in the architectural work entitled "Fuller's Car Wash-Cicero, Illinois" with the United States Copyright Office on May 11, 2015 and was provided Registration Number VAu 1-211-772. Exhibit 2 attached hereto is a true and correct copy of the Registration Certificate issued by the U.S. Copyright Office for this work.

25. Each and every page of the Cicero Drawings contains a copyright notice as follows: "COPYRIGHT 2010 GEA ARCHITECTS, LTD." Each page also contains the following notice: "GEA Architects, Ltd shall retain all copyrights, statutory and common law rights with regard to these plans and building design. Reproduction, revisions, or assignment to any third party shall not occur without obtaining expressed written permission and consent of GEA Architects, Ltd."

26. GEA has at all times since the creation of the Cicero Drawings and the Cicero Facility been the sole and exclusive owner of copyrights therein. At no time has GEA ever assigned or transferred ownership of those copyrights to any of the defendants.

The Matteson Infringement

27. In approximately 2014, several years after GEA created the copyrighted works and after the Cicero Facility had been constructed, Defendants Fuller's Car Wash and Doug Fuller decided to construct another Fuller's-branded car wash facility on land located in Matteson, Illinois (the "Matteson Facility"). Paragon Development was the developer on the Matteson project, and Paragon Matteson is listed as "Owner" on the infringing architectural plans that were used for the project. On information and belief, Paragon Matteson was the owner of the property on which the facility was to be constructed at that time. On information and belief, Paragon Matteson later transferred the property to SV Matteson, which now owns the property.

28. In early 2014, Doug Fuller asked GEA to prepare a preliminary site plan for the Matteson Facility. At Fuller's direction, GEA created such a plan and sent it to Greg Van Landingham on February 17, 2014. Van Landingham is the managing partner of Paragon Development.

29. Later, Van Landingham requested GEA to prepare a revised preliminary site plans for the Matteson Facility. GEA sent the revised site plan to Van Landingham on April 28, 2014.

30. On April 29, 2014, Van Landingham asked GEA to send to digital file (a CAD file) for the revised site plan. GEA questioned why Van Landingham needed the digital file. In response, Doug Fuller stated that GEA should get Van Landingham and Paragon Development what they needed to get the project going.

31. A few days later, on May 2, 2014, Van Landingham requested GEA to send an electronic set of the architectural design drawings for the Cicero Facility.

32. In his e-mail request for the Cicero Drawings, Van Landingham stated that they wanted the drawings in order to get some initial construction pricing from general contractors.

33. Doug Fuller encouraged GEA to quickly comply with the request, and told GEA that they needed the plans to obtain cost estimates for construction.

34. On May 6, 2014, GEA sent an electronic copy of the plans to Van Landingham, to be used for the limited purpose of obtaining initial construction pricing from general contractors, and for no other purpose.

35. Van Landingham responded the same day and again stated that the purpose for requesting the plans was to help with pricing out the Matteson project.

36. On June 2, 2014, Paragon Development issued a Request for Proposal for architectural services for the Matteson Facility. The Request for Proposal incorporated copyrighted elements of the Cicero Drawings to solicit bids from multiple architectural firms, including GEA and Defendant PFDA.

37. On June 5, 2014, GEA, concerned that defendants had used and were planning to continue to use the Cicero Drawings for the Matteson Facility without permission, informed Van Landingham that the Cicero Drawings were copyrighted and that GEA had not authorized the use of the plans for any purpose other than obtaining a cost estimate.

38. The same day, GEA informed Doug Fuller that the Cicero Drawings were for one time use only.

39. After PFDA was awarded the contract for architectural services for the Matteson Facility, PFDA then copied significant elements of the Cicero Drawings including, but not limited to, diagrams, designs, and measurement and numbering nomenclature, related to the Cicero Facility's exterior elevations, exterior detailing and banding, hierarchy of materials and design elements, floor plans, roof plans, detail plans, building and wall sections, an identical arched roof element, trash enclosure, and other portions of the Cicero Drawings.

40. PFDA also copied, without limitation, exact words and nomenclature of the plan notes, column line identification tags, and descriptions of work. PFDA then distributed its infringing architectural plan drawings copied from the Cicero Drawings to Defendants Paragon Development and Defendant Fuller's Car Wash in or around September 2014, each of which then utilized PFDA's plans to apply for permits beginning in or around October 2014.

41. On information and belief, on or around April 2015, Defendant SV Matteson LLC acquired and/or became the successor in interest of Defendant Paragon Matteson, LLC. On information and belief, Defendant SV Matteson LLC was organized by the same individuals involved in Paragon Matteson, including Van Landingham. Defendant SV Matteson LLC became the nominal entity doing the development of the Matteson Facility on behalf of Paragon Development and Fuller's Car Wash.

42. On information and belief, construction of the Matteson Facility began in or around April 2015 and concluded in or around September 2015.

43. Defendant Doug Fuller personally authorized, participated in, and had knowledge of the infringing use of the copyrighted works and instructed others to engage in such infringing use.

44. Defendant Van Landingham was the Managing Partner of and controlled the operations of Paragon Development. He personally authorized, participated in, and had knowledge of the infringing use of the copyrighted works and instructed others to engage in such infringing use.

45. The acts of the Defendants in reproducing, modifying, and publicly distributing the Cicero Drawings for use in constructing the Matteson Facility, and in instructing and authorizing others to do so, constitute infringements of Plaintiff's copyrights in the Cicero Drawings, in violation of 17 U.S.C. §106(1), (2), and (3).

46. The acts of Defendants in reproducing and modifying and publicly distributing the architectural work embodied in the Cicero Facility by constructing the Matteson Facility, and in instructing and authorizing others to do so, constitute infringement of Plaintiff's copyright in the architectural work, in violation of 17 U.S.C. §106(1) and (2).

The Calumet City Infringement

47. In approximately July, 2015, Defendants Fuller's Car Wash and Doug Fuller decided to construct another Fuller's-branded car wash facility on land located in Calumet City, Illinois (the "Calumet City Facility"). On information and belief, SV Calumet was the developer on the Calumet City project and is the owner of the property on which the facility was constructed.

On information and belief, Defendant SV Calumet City LLC was organized by Defendant Van Landingham.

48. On or about October 30, 2015, GEA submitted a proposal to provide architectural services, including schematic and design development and creation of construction documents for the Calumet City Facility. Its proposal was rejected. Instead, the job was awarded to PFDA.

49. After PFDA was awarded the contract for architectural services for the Calumet City Facility, PFDA then copied significant elements of the Cicero Drawings including, diagrams, designs, and measurement and numbering nomenclature, related to the Cicero Facility's exterior elevations, exterior detailing and banding, hierarchy of materials and design elements, floor plans, roof plans, detail plans, building and wall sections, trash enclosure, and other portions of the Cicero Drawings.

50. PFDA also copied, without limitation, exact words and nomenclature of the plan notes, column line identification tags, and descriptions of work. PFDA then distributed its infringing architectural plan drawings copied from the Cicero Drawings to Defendants SV Calumet and Defendant Fuller's Car Wash in or around February, 2016, each of which then utilized PFDA's plans to apply for permits beginning in February, 2016.

51. On information and belief, construction of the Calumet City Facility began in approximately August, 2016.

52. Defendant Doug Fuller personally authorized, participated in, and had knowledge of the infringing use of the copyrighted works in the development of the Calumet City Facility and instructed others to engage in such infringing use.

53. On information and belief, Defendant Van Landingham was an owner of and controlled the operations of SV Calumet City. He personally authorized, participated in, and had knowledge of the infringing use of the copyrighted works in the development of the Calumet City Facility and instructed others to engage in such infringing use.

54. The acts of the Defendants in reproducing, modifying, and publicly distributing the Cicero Drawings for use in constructing the Calumet City Facility, and in instructing and authorizing others to do so, constitute infringements of Plaintiff's copyrights in the Cicero Drawings, in violation of 17 U.S.C. §106(1), (2), and (3).

55. The acts of Defendants in reproducing and modifying and publicly distributing the architectural work embodied in the Cicero Facility by constructing the in the development of the Calumet City Facility, and in instructing and authorizing others to do so, constitute infringement of Plaintiff's copyright in the architectural work, in violation of 17 U.S.C. §106(1) and (2).

Vicarious Liability of Principals

56. Because Doug Fuller is a principal and/or manager of Fuller's Car Wash, Inc., he had knowledge of and the right to supervise Fuller's Car Wash, Inc.'s infringing activities, and did actively supervise those activities.

57. The conduct of Fuller's Car Wash, Inc., described above, was performed and accomplished through the direction, control and direct supervision of Doug Fuller, personally. Doug Fuller had the ability to prevent Fuller's Car Wash, Inc. from infringing GEA's works, and/or to stop the infringements once they began. Additionally, Doug Fuller received pecuniary benefit from Fuller's Car Wash, Inc's acts of infringement and obtained commercial benefit from the unauthorized use of the infringing copyrighted works in the design, planning, and construction of the Matteson Facility and the Calumet City Facility. Accordingly, in addition to being directly liable for participating in and authorizing infringing actions, Doug Fuller is personally liable to GEA as a joint and/or contributory infringer, and is liable under principles of vicarious liability.

58. Because Van Landingham is a principal and/or manager of Paragon Development, SV Matteson, and SV Calumet, he had knowledge of and the right to supervise the infringing activities of these entities, and did actively supervise those activities.

59. The conduct of Paragon Development, SV Matteson, and SV Calumet described above, was performed and accomplished through the direction, control and direct supervision of Van Landingham, personally. Van Landingham had the ability to prevent Paragon Development, SV Matteson, and SV Calumet from infringing GEA's works, and/or to stop the infringements once they began. Additionally, Van Landingham received pecuniary benefit from the infringing acts of Paragon Development, SV Matteson, and SV Calumet and obtained commercial benefit from the unauthorized use of the infringing copyrighted works in the design, planning, and construction of the Matteson Facility and the Calumet City Facility. Accordingly, in addition to being directly liable for participating in and authorizing infringing actions, Van Landingham is personally liable to GEA as a joint and/or contributory infringer, and is liable under principles of vicarious liability.

60. The illicit acts of the Defendants, described in paragraphs 1 through 59, supra, were done without permission or license from GEA, and in violation of GEA's exclusive copyrights in said works.
